Dear Dr. Roysircar:

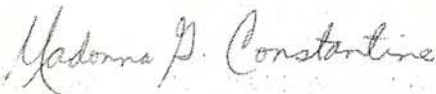

On behalf of the entire staff and attendees of the 2006 Winter Roundtable on Cultural Psychology and Education, thank you again for your presentation titled, "Disaster Relief: International and National Social Justice Efforts." The Roundtable recognizes that your efforts in designing, creating, and presenting your symposium were integral to the success of the conference.

Winter Roundtable attendees were asked to provide feedback to conference presenters. We have compiled the responses for your symposium and have attached an evaluation summary to this letter. We hope that attendees' evaluations will inform future presentations that you may offer. We have addressed the present summary to the primary presenter of your presentation, and encourage you to share this summary with your co-presenters.

We sincerely appreciate your commitment to the annual Winter Roundtable conference and look forward to seeing you next year at the 2007 Winter Roundtable Conference. Our theme for the 2007 conference is "Traditional and Nontraditional Approaches in Addressing Race and Culture: Implications for Psychology and Education." Please note that the Call for Papers for next year's conference will be available by the end of August 2006 on the Winter Roundtable website.

Please feel free to contact the Winter Roundtable coordinators, Christina Capodilupo and Rebecca Redington, at (212) 678-4111 or roundtable@tc.columbia.edu if there are any questions or concerns about your evaluations. Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Madonna G. Constantine, Ph.D.

7) The physical space provided for the presentation was:

Total Number of Responses: 8

Mean: 4.50

8) Please make any other comments or suggestions regarding this symposium, paper, or workshop below:

-Excellent.

-Ensure that one presenter does not take too much time answering a question when other people from the audience may have others that they hope are responded to.

-Good division of the time between presenters but so much to say in such a little time.
